Democratic hope has "clean gone." The meaning of the October elections is, "Let well enough alone."

The victories in Ohio and Indiana are the price Democratic mad singing.

The year 1880, like 1855, is a poor year for the principles of Lee and Jackson.

The Democrats are beginning to see that there is something in spelling Nation with a big N.

"329" is the number of times English and Landers have called each other liars since the election.

There is a "change" in the weather. Probably that will suit the Democratic party, as all they want is a "change."

It is exceedingly funny to see how the Democrats attempt to conceal their disgust and disappointment over Indiana.

The Republicans will have 12 majority on a joint ballot in the Indiana Legislature. This will make another Republican Senator.

There is more stock than ever taken in the wisdom of the Wisconsin delegation headed by Mr. Cassoday, in securing the nomination name of Garfield.

There will be no more chalking "329" on the residences and business places of prominent Republicans. The Democrats have learned since Tuesday last that it does not pay.

Hon. Alexander Mitchell, of Milwaukee, was among the prominent Republicans who joined in the welcome of Secretary Sherman to that city.

The Madison Democrats says the victory in Ohio is no victory at all. Well, a gain of six Congressmen and sweeping the State by 20,000 majority, is not much of a victory for the Democrats, that's a fact.

When the Rock River Methodist conference heard the news from Ohio and Indiana, that great body rose as one man and sang the doxology. There is such a thing as religion and politics going hand in hand.

There was a grand Republican rally at Minneapolis, last Wednesday night, at which Congressman Williams, of this city, made one of the most effective campaign speeches that had been heard in that city for a long time. The Academy of Music, in which the enthusiastic demonstration was held, was crowded and jammed. Both the Minneapolis Tribune and the Evening Journal speak of the speech of Mr. Williams as being a most masterly review of the issues of the campaign. Mr. Williams spoke to an immense audience at Menomonee, on Thursday evening. His appointments for the remainder of the campaign can be found in another column.

When ex-Governor C. C. Washburn read Colonel Vilas' recent speech, his feelings were outraged to think that a Union soldier would make a speech which was unworthy of any one who fought to defend the Union against the attack of treason. He therefore decided to challenge Colonel Vilas to a debate and we are informed that it has been accepted and will take place at Madison some time week after next. Colonel Vilas was a member of Governor Washburn's regiment, and to think that he would attempt to misrepresent history gives him annoyance. Governor Washburn may not be able to cope with Colonel Vilas so far as eloquence is concerned, but he will give him what is better and more effective, bold and solid facts. The debate will be looked for with much interest.

Talking about American extravagance, it is said that a London establishment, and it is a pretty good position to make a fair estimate, places the expenses of Americans abroad at 180 million dollars this year! This vast sum has been expended by 60,000 persons, which makes an average expenditure of $3,000 for each person. Some have not spent more than $800 or $1,200, but there are many who have thrown away from $10,000 to $50,000 on a trip to Europe. There is nothing in the world that will make European tradesmen, inn-keepers and porters smile more sweetly than the sight of an American. They know they have struck a bonanza when they meet an American traveler on the continent. Their purses are usually full, and their ideas of economy completely lost.

There is no class of persons who spend so much in traveling as do the Americans. They don't understand the first principles of economy as compared with the system practiced by the inhabitants of the old world. During the late dull times when finances were unsettled and our industries lagging, thousands of Americans went to Europe and indulged in wild prodigality. Our disposition to spend money, is an unfathomable mystery to our friends across the water, and it is not probable that our people shall ever adopt economical habits until their resources of wealth in this country are exhausted.

A "NOBLE CHARITY" GONE TO WRECK. In 1875 a woman named Sarah E. Howe, a fortune teller, a procuress, and the wife of a gambler, was convicted in Massachusetts, of swindling, and sent to jail. She was a woman of prodigious cheek, extraordinary energy, and totally devoid of honor. When she was released from jail she carried into effect a woman's bank, or saving deposit. On the outer door was placed the strange and enticing sign:

The Ladies' Deposit is a charitable institution for single ladies, old and young. No deposit received for less than $250 more than $1,000. Interest at the rate of 5% on $100 per month, is paid every three months, in advance. The principal can be withdrawn upon call on any day except Sunday.

No deposit received from persons owning a home. Office hours from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily. This attracted the attention of women who had a little money they wanted to invest, and in a short time the woman's savings bank was the talk of Boston. With such extraordinary inducements it was not long before the bank began to do a good business in receiving deposits. Women became intoxicated with delight over the unprecedented opportunity to invest their money at ninety-six per cent. per annum, payable monthly in advance! No bonanza of the gold and silver rages could equal that as an investment. Innocent women were made to believe that the manager was a woman of fabulous wealth. A woman who had a thousand dollars could deposit it in this wonderful bank and receive therefor $960 a year, enough to support a small family. It seems impossible that intelligent women could put faith in such a financial scheme, but there were hundreds in Boston to do it, and to-day they weep over the ruins of the "bank," and the total loss of their money.

The wild and daring scheme had been going on for nearly two years before the Boston press began to make attacks upon the bold plan to rob the women. And even when the papers exposed the villainy of this woman, deposits rather multiplied than decreased! Some, of course, drew out their money but others replaced it, until the total deposits reached nearly a million dollars. This was an opportune moment for Mrs. Howe to seize a fortune and she improved it. On Thursday the doors were closed, and hundreds of deluded women found themselves penniless. Some had fattened upon her prodigality but scores of others have been robbed by her villainy. At last accounts she had not been arrested, and it is doubtful if the Massachusetts officers of the law are sharp enough to capture her.

LOST OPPORTUNITIES. There was a time when the Democratic party had an opportunity to make itself great, by becoming the National party, but it would not.

There was a time when it had an opportunity to abide by the compromises of 1820 and 1850, but it lost it.

It had an opportunity to place itself on the side of freedom, and to crush any attempt favoring the carrying of slavery into the Territories, but it would not improve it.

It had an opportunity to stay secession and to prevent four years of a bloody war, but it refused to do it.

It had an opportunity to support the scheme to give public lands to the landless, but it opposed it and favored the putting of public lands under the control of the speculators and the slave aristocracy.

It had an opportunity to save tens of thousands of lives and billions of property and money by showing some of the patriotic spirit of Andrew Jackson, but it did not.

It had an opportunity to resolve that the war would be a success to maintain the constitution and save the Union, but it resolved the war was a failure.

It had an opportunity to favor emancipation and to make freemen of chattels, but it denounced emancipation.

It had an opportunity of putting itself on the side of an honest and just reconstruction policy, but its sympathies were still with the ex-rebel element.

It had an opportunity to stand among the foremost in support of the constitutional amendments giving the ballot to all American citizens, but it opposed it.

It had an opportunity after the war to still redeem itself by supporting the government's honor, pledges and credit, but it would not.

It had an opportunity to get on the right and safe round of the financial question, but it took to soft money and favored the dishonest scheme to have the government break faith with its creditors.

It had an opportunity to favor the resumption act in 1874, but every Democratic Senator in Congress voted against it.

It had an opportunity to denounce the attempt of Samuel J. Tilden, through cipher dispatches, to steal the Presidency, but the party endorsed the greatest political crime of the century.

It had an opportunity in 1879, to oppose a repeal of the resumption act, but on the 24th of February of that year 106 Democrats in the House voted for its repeal and 114 Republicans voted against it.

It had an opportunity on the 20th of June, 1878, to put itself on record against paying rebel claims, but in the House 61 Democrats voted to pay them.

It had an opportunity on the 3d of February, 1879, to favor a prompt payment of the arrears of pension, but 81 Democrats in the House voted against it.

It had an opportunity when it took possession of Congress to decrease some of the appropriations, but it increased them to the amount of 41 millions in five years.

It has had opportunities to denounce kn-kluxism, midnight riders, assassinations, political murders, and the Chisholm massacre, but it never condemned them.

It had an opportunity to demand a free ballot, a full vote and an honest count in the South, but it has never did it.

It had abundant opportunities to join with the Republicans in attempting to wipe out sectionalism and to foster fraternal friendship, but it would not improve one of them.

It has had opportunities to become the party of protection to all our industries, which helps the manufacturer, the mechanic, the workman, the mariner, and the farmer, alike, but it did not.

These are some of the lost opportunities of the Democratic party. The record is a black one, and yet it wants to ride into power on that record.

OLD RESUMPTION.

Secretary Sherman at Milwaukee—An Immense Crowd, and a Masterly Speech.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 15.—The largest and most magnificent political demonstration that ever occurred in Milwaukee was witnessed this evening. It was arranged in connection with the appearance of Secretary Sherman. A procession five miles in length paraded the streets, headed by ten companies of cavalry, and including a Garfield club from each ward and surrounding towns and neighboring villages. The city is brilliantly illuminated, a number of patriotic individuals having provided fire works. The demonstration began early in the afternoon, when a reception committee met Mr. Sherman at Racine where he spoke during the day. He arrived here at 4 o'clock, and was greeted by thousands of admirers. After brief speeches from the Broadway balcony of the Newhall house by Thomas M. Nichol, Casper M. Sanger, Governor Smith, and others, the Secretary of the Treasury reviewed the Guards. At about 9:30 o'clock Secretary Sherman began his address at Schlicht Park, which lasted over an hour. It was a dispassionate consideration of the financial record of the political parties, which was received in an appreciative spirit by the immense audience. Governor Smith presided. The entire affair is in effect a boom for the Republican congressional nominee, Casper M. Sanger, who was almost as much the hero of the occasion in the estimation of the assemblage as the financial secretary. Since learning of the Republican congressional gains in Ohio and Indiana, the party in Wisconsin are more than ever determined to add two more to that side. Sanger and Gunther have every assurance of election over Denster and Bonck.

THIS IS BUSINESS.

Republican Success Means Prosperity—What Business Men Think of It.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The business aspect of present campaign presents an important feature in the struggle in this State and city, and it is creating much interest. No one who goes around among business men here can have any doubt of the widespread mistrust of the Democratic party's ability to administer the general government successfully, or of their confidence that Garfield's administration will be a continuation of that of President Hayes, under which our finances have been put on such a sound footing, and business prosperity has been renewed. It is understood that Mr. Henry Havemeyer, the sugar refiner, a lifelong Democrat, has announced his purpose to vote for Garfield, and that without coercing any men in his employ he advises those who consult him that their interest as well as his lies in the success of the Republican party. A leading dry-goods man on Broadway, immediately after the Ohio and Indiana elections, invested $25,000 in cotton goods, not one cent of which, he says, he would have dared to lay out at this time if the election had gone differently. These are but samples, but they show unmistakebly the tendency of the times, and demonstrate the determination of capitalists to maintain the present prosperity of the country.

INDIANA.

Some of the Official Figures Which Show a Big Majority.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 15.—Returns have been received from ninety-one counties official and unofficial. These give Porter a plurality of 30,423, and Landers 23,734—not a plurality of 6,689. Ripley county, which has not been heard from, gave a Democratic plurality of 225 in 1876, so that if further gains shall be made there Porter's plurality will be 6,414. These figures cannot be changed. The congressional delegation remains as reported—eight Republican, and five Democratic. The Fifth district elects Matsen, Democratic, by 881 majority. No changes are reported in the Legislature. The Senate is a tie, while in the House the Republicans have fifty-six members, the Democrats forty-three, and the Nationals one. The latter will probably act with the Republicans, as he was so pledged as to organization and United States senator, if the Nationalists did not hold the balance of power.

OHIO.

The Result of the Recent Election—Carrying on the War.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 15.—The proposition to carry the war into Africa meets with the earnest approval of the leading Republicans here. There is a belief that in Virginia, North Carolina, Florida, and Louisiana a vigorous fight would bring partial if not entire success. Florida would certainly give a Republican majority if the vote could be properly counted, and if Grant could be persuaded to visit Louisiana his influence there would be very great. In all the States mentioned there will be, it is confidently expected, a gain of Congressmen.

Judge Taft, Stanley Matthews, Richard Smith, of the Gazette, Mr. Halstead, and others express themselves to-day as earnestly favoring the plan. Republicans celebrate the victory to-morrow night with an immense demonstration in Music hall, at which Judge Taft, Governor Foster, Governor-elect Porter, of Indiana, Stanley Matthews, Ben. Butterworth, and several others are to appear.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 15.—Unofficial returns have now been received from all the counties of Ohio, which show that Townsend's majority for secretary of State is 18,028. In several counties containing large cities, Townsend was out considerably, on account of his temperate record. This did not have its effect on the balance of the ticket, and hence the average majority for all other candidates will be fully 20,000.

THE METHODISTS.

The Wisconsin Conference.

APPLETON, Oct. 15.—The session of the conference to-day has been devoted principally to the trials. The committee in the case of the Rev. G. S. Hubbs, of this city, reported that the charges preferred against him for maladministration were groundless, and the case was dismissed.

The committee of inquiry into the case of the Rev. G. Haddock, of Milwaukee, reported that, in their judgment, he should be placed on trial. The charges against Haddock are the Oakfield scandal, and the other an open letter attacking Carhart. The former charge has already been passed upon by the conference in 1874, and Haddock proved innocent. The charges are thus very transparent, and show plainly Carhart's designs to injure Haddock's reputation, against whom Haddock has preferred charges of a grave nature.

This evening, Dr. Vincent addressed the conference on Sunday School work.

EARLY SNOW STORM.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 15.—A snow storm, accompanied by thunder and lightning, began at 1 p. m. The snow is still falling lightly. Over an inch of slush on the streets. The mercury was at freezing point at sundown. Reports indicate that the storm extends all over this section. No storm so early in the season before for ten years.

A BAD SON-IN-LAW.

BLOOMINGTON, Oct. 15.—This morning Henry Hurst, a son-in-law of Thomas Baird, got possession of the pocket book belonging to the old gentleman, and drawing the money on a $450 check disappeared. The police were notified and Marshal Stone arrested Hurst on the train between here and Springfield. The pocket book contained in check and money about $600.

NOMINATED FOR CONGRESS.

LA CROSSE, Oct. 15.—The Democratic convention for the Seventh congressional district nominated G. Y. Freeman, of Trempealeau county, for member of Congress. The vote stood Freeman twenty, Hayden six, Blaislee seven, Rodolph two. Pierce, St. Croix, Pepin and Buffalo counties were not represented.

EPIZOOTIC.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 15.—The epizootic in a mild form has broken out here. A large number of horses are affected, but not to the extent that will necessitate their withdrawal from work.

CATTLE FOR EUROPE.

TORONTO, Oct. 15.—A syndicate of cattle-dealers of this city has contracted with the Allan and Dominion lines of steamships for space for 20,000 head of cattle for the ports of Liverpool, London, Bristol and Glasgow.

TWO MORE VICTIMS.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 15.—Mary Steinhilgh and William Crump, victims of the railroad disaster of Saturday night, died at the First Pennsylvania Hospital last night. This makes thirty-two up to date.

THE MACK TRIAL.

To the Editor.

The Mack trial came to an end last Saturday night. The jury after remaining out fifty-one hours, failed to find a verdict and the judge discharged them. During Mr. Bennett's plea, a letter was handed to Mr. Winans, which contained the following or that in substance:

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 15.—1880. I was discharged from the state penitentiary on the 4th day of August. On the 4th day of July I had a conversation with Dickerson, and he stated that Mrs. Mack was innocent of the murder of her husband and that he (Dickerson) and another man killed him, for his money.

The writer of the note expressed his willingness to be put upon the stand and swear to the truth of the above statement. Mr. Winans handed the note to Judge Conger, who promised to have Mrs. Mack a new trial, should the jury bring in a verdict of guilt.

The foregoing appears in the Jefferson Banner newspaper under date of October 7th:

I know not upon what authority that paper makes the concluding statement in this article, but as it is not made upon my own, presumably it is made upon the authority of Mr. Winans himself, as he and I alone know what transpired in respect to the letter named; but whatever may be the authority relied on, I have to say it is not true that I "promised to grant Mrs. Mack a new trial should the jury bring in a verdict of guilty."

The great impropriety there would be on the part of counsel in exacting such a promise, and the far greater impropriety there would be on the part of the judge in making it if exacted, under the circumstances named, are apparent without comment. The simple truth in respect to this matter is: That after the testimony was closed and while Mr. Smith was making the opening argument to the jury on behalf of the State, Mr. Winans came to my seat on the bench and handed me the letter, at the same time informing me that he had just received it. I read the letter while he was standing by my seat and on returning it to him said: "What do you propose to do if anything?" His reply was, "Nothing now. It is too late to use the information if there be anything in it. But if the jury should convict, I shall desire to move for a new trial." To this I made no reply other than to say that I thought it proper he should keep the letter to himself at present.

This is all that occurred. Our conversation was strictly private and out of hearing of others. I have never informed anyone of it, nor can I see why Mr. Winans should have felt at liberty to do so, even to give warrant for a truthful publication of the occurrence.

In respect to the meager published reports of this trial given in other papers during its progress, the fact should be stated that many of them were singularly erroneous, and like the foregoing, well calculated to deceive and mislead.

Since preparing the above for the press, I find in the Rock County Recorder of Oct. 15th, the following:

MRS. MACK'S TRIAL.

We published a day or two ago an article from the Jefferson Banner, which in yesterday's issue that paper corrects as follows: "The Banner last week was slightly in error in regard to the language used by Judge Conger, and unintentionally did the Judge an injustice. The following letter from Winans and Fethers, counsel for Mrs. Mack will explain the matter."

JANESVILLE, Oct. 15, 1880.

EDITOR OF BANNER: You are in error in stating in possession of last week that the Court promised a new trial in the case of Mrs. Mack. Mrs. Mack, by reason of the letter to Mr. Winans referred to, did not understand that we were from whom your article derived its information. Certainly he did not from either of us. The conversation between the Court and Mr. Winans, after the receipt of the letter, was substantially this: The Court, after reading the letter, said, "I don't know that anything can be done now, but in the event of a conviction we shall want time to investigate this matter so as to move for a new trial on the newly discovered evidence. The Court then said that time might be granted for that purpose in case the jury should convict. We considered the letter, and the Court and to ourselves to make this correction."

This communication utterly fails to do justice either to the counsel or to the judge, whatever may have been the intention. Instead of reiterating the statement that I promised to grant a new trial in case the verdict should be against the defendant, it is now stated that I said to the counsel, privately of course, that in such event "we shall want time to investigate this matter so as to move for a new trial," and that I then promised that "time should be granted for that purpose in case the jury should convict."

If it was improper for me to promise a new trial, under the circumstances, it was equally improper for me to promise that time should be given for the purpose of the motion. I have already said I did not make the former, and I now say I did not make the latter; nor did I say that "we shall want time to investigate this matter, &c." What did occur I have fully stated above, and the "correction" of the counsel neither relieves them nor the judge from the impropriety implied in the first article from the Banner.

Coughs.

"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are used with advantage to alleviate Coughs, Sore Throat, Hoarseness and BRONCHIAL AFFECTIONS. For thirty years these Troches have been in use, with annually increasing favor. They are not new and untied, but, having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age.

The Troche.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" act directly on the organs of the voice. They have an extraordinary effect in all disorders of the Throat and Larynx, restoring a healthy tone when relaxed, either from cold or over-exertion of the voice, and produce a clear and distinct enunciation. Speakers and Singers find the Troches useful.

A Cough, Cold, Catarrh or Sore Throat requires immediate attention, as neglect often times results in some incurable Lung Disease. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" will almost invariably give relief. Inhalations are offered for sale, many of which are injurious. The genuine "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are sold only in boxes.

LET ALL REJOICE.

The Republicans will Meet for a "Hurrah" Monday Night.

Monday evening the Republicans will have a jollification rally, with a street parade, music by the full band, hurrahs and guns, and a general good time, to wind up with a meeting in Opera house, at which there will be some rousing speeches and other appropriate doings. Let all join in the good time.

GRIFFETS.

—Blow away.
—October half gone.
—The windows got badly rattled last night.

—Prof Severance's dancing school to-night.

—The wind last night broke off the limbs of some trees.

—No wonder the boys wanted to start for the sunny south this morning.

—There has been a lowering of 32 degrees in the thermometer from 1 o'clock p. m. yesterday to a like hour this afternoon.

—Hon. Pliny Norcross and P. N. Hendrix addressed a goodly sized Republican meeting at Maxonville last evening. Mr. Parks presided.

—One Beloit Democrat has heard from Indiana and has now bet $10 with another Democrat that Garfield will carry every northern State.

—Miss Mattie McCallagh will have her military opening on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons and evenings. She has a fine stock.

—George Stockton, the dry goods man, offers some big bargains in his line, as will be seen by his advertisement in another column. He has also been preparing for cold weather by getting in a fine lot of the latest styled cloaks, etc.

—Frank Webster, while cleaning out an old coal store, yesterday, found a silver dollar, bearing date of 1799. It was quite a find, as it is listed by numismatists as being worth $12. He has already been offered $3 for it, but prefers to keep it as a pocket piece.

—Last evening Senator Richardson and D. P. Sayre addressed a Republican meeting in North Johnstown. The threatening weather prevented a very large attendance, but the meeting was a success nevertheless, both as to numbers and addresses.

—Richard Barless, of Emerald Grove, has left at a r office a sunflower, which is a little too large for a button hole bouquet and a little too small for a race course.

It measures nineteen inches in diameter, and though terribly seedy now, must have been a dazzer in its day.

—Last evening E. M. Hyzer and T. S. Nolan spoke to a four-sided audience in Young's school house. There was nothing very remarkable about the meeting, but it was a good wholesome one, and the speakers did good work, and the audience plainly bespoke the fact that Republican sentiment is by no means asleep there.

—Last evening a number of the friends of P. M. Finch, remembering that yesterday was his birthday, wisely planned and successfully executed a surprise upon him at his residence in the Third ward. They marched in upon him with music and provisions, and had a merry dance and a supper. The occasion was heartily enjoyed both by surprisers and surprised, and the good time was kept up until about 2 o'clock this morning.

—Glass photographic gallery will by no means be shut during his absence from the city, as Lieutenant of the Guards on their Atlanta trip. He has secured the services of Ben. Voshburgh, of Chicago, who will take his place, and who is abundantly able to do it. He is an artist of years experience and acknowledged skill, and the gallery will continue to furnish its patrons as good pictures as can be had anywhere. Glass has done well by his patrons in securing a substitute so skillful a man.

ROUND SOUTH.

This morning the Janesville Guards, to the number of about twenty, started on their Atlanta trip, accompanied by a number of citizens who rank as honorary members. It was not the most cheerful morning for a start, the wind blowing shivering, and the thermometer standing about overcast degree. The boys met at the armory and warmed up by a little drill, but concluded it would hardly pay to indulge in the promised street parade, and so marched quietly from the armory to the depot.

The officers of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad by which the Guards go to Atlanta from Chicago, have printed for the occasion a neat little railroad guide and programme of the reunion, which also contains the names of the military accompanying the excursion, including the Rockford Rifles, Janesville Guards and Governor's Guards, of Springfield, Ill.

The following is the general programme of what is to be done each day next week:

MONDAY, Oct. 18.—Arrival and reception of visiting companies. Excursions to points of interest in and about the city.

TUESDAY, Oct. 19.—Grand parade and review.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 20.—Laying corner stone of Memorial Armory. Parade. Mystic Orama procession at night.

THURSDAY, Oct. 21.—Sham battle and parade.

FRIDAY, Oct. 22.—Southern barbecue. Visiting State Fair, etc.

SATURDAY, Oct. 23.—Review reunion. "Home Sweet Home."

REV. HENRY ARMS says: "I earnestly believe that DAY'S KIDNEY PAD is the only infallible remedy in the world for that prevalent and distressing complaint 'Back Ache.'"

WHAT'S IN THE WIND?

There's a good deal in it, evidently, by the way it has tossed moreables about for nearly twenty-four hours past. It has broken down trees, toppled over fences, demoralized eavesdroppers, scattered shingles, knocked off hats, made folk mad by the way it has cuffed their ears and mussed up their hair, and played the mischief generally. It has done some more serious damage though. Between here and Johnstown there have been many tobacco sheds blown down in part and many hay and straw stacks snatched headless.

A gentleman who drove out into the towns of Janesville and Center, this morning, informs us that he noticed seven tobacco sheds blown down by the wind.

Mr. Shoemaker's windmill, on the Fulton road, was blown over.

Mrs. Culver's tobacco shed was put flat upon the ground, causing heavy damage to crop and almost total loss to the building.

In the city St. Patrick's church suffered some. The cornices on which men have been at work, are being kept by ropes from falling, and there are fears expressed of the steeple.

The residence of John C. Spencer was damaged about noon to-day, the wind blowing over the chimney and carrying away some of the roof.

Last evening Mrs. Woodstock's millinery sign on Milwaukee street took a fly out into the street, and gave Dr. Loomis, who was passing by, a narrow escape.

The telegraph wires have been badly rattled by the wind, and some lines running from here are down.

TEMPERANCE MEETING.

To-morrow evening there will be a temperance meeting under the auspices of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, at the Court Street Methodist church, at which Mrs. Laura G. Fixen, of Albert Lea, Minnesota, will speak. She is a Scandinavian lady and has labored especially for the temperance cause among the foreigners. She understands the French, German, Scandinavian and English languages, and can lecture equally fluently in each. She comes here most highly recommended, and with flattering press notices setting forth her earnestness and eloquence, while the whole is spiced with her peculiar humor, rendering her a most charming speaker. Everybody is invited to hear her. The Madison Journal says of her: Mrs. Laura G. Fixen, of Minnesota, also delivered an address that was worthy both of the speaker and the occasion. Mrs. Fixen is a most eloquent speaker, with a considerable fund of humor, and is capable of holding the attention of an audience better than any female speaker that has ever visited Madison.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a receipt that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. JOSEPH T. ISHMAN, Station D, New York City.
